

Pasifika Foundation Press
and The Pacific Media Centre are pleased to host a reception and book signing for

Kalafi Moala

On the occasion of the publication of his new book

In Search of The Friendly Islands

Saturday, 21 March 2009

11 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Onehunga Community Center & Library
83 Church Street, Onehunga, Auckland

Refreshments will be served

Reading [Kalafi's] book, one can imagine him seated on the floor in a circle around the tanoa talking the same way as he writes, connecting the big issues to daily life. One can just as easily see this book in the hands of the international experts, teaching them about the "grass-roots."

– Professor Ian Campbell,
University of the South Pacific

For more than a generation, Kalafi Moala has inspired the Pacific region as a newspaper publisher and social conscience. This book is another important contribution to debate and reform about the Friendly Islands and journalism's role in a "challenge for the soul of our very civilisation."

– David Robie, Director,
Pacific Media Centre, AUT

Published in Hawai'i by
Pasifika Foundation Press
ISBN: 978-0-9823511-0-9
and in New Zealand by Pacific Media Centre
ISBN: 978-1-877314-75-9
softcover • 164p

For more information please contact Ana Currie at acurrie@hawaii.rr.com